Adventure Dice	https://adventuredice.ca/product/av100001/	Canada	CAD$15	CAD$15: One polymer set per box	Promises one new/unreleased set per month, boasting "sparkles, minis, and layers." The subscription ships to Canada for free, to the US for $7.50, and to Europe for around $10. Monthly and quarterly options are available if you want to save on shipping. Prices are in Canadian dollars.
Libris Arcana	https://www.librisarcana.com/collections/subscriptions	Canada	different tiers ranging from $15.50 to $63.25	$15.50 tier (monthly): Libris Arcana exclusive (not available anywhere else) resin polyset and one randomly selected bonus die $22.75 tier (monthly): one set of metal dice $26.50 tier (quarterly): the current month's Libris Arcana exclusive resin polyset plus the exclusive sets from the two previous months (if stock available, if not they send non-exclusive sets) $35 tier (monthly): one set of handmade Libris Arcana dice $49.99 tier (monthly): 2 sets of the current monthly subscription dice including limited edition exclusives, 2 sets of both other current quarterly subscription (4 sets in total), 1 random dice set and 7 individual randoms from the big box of random dice $63.25 tier (monthly): Libris Arcana exclusive monthly resin polyset + one metal set + the current handmade set	Multiple offerings for multiple budgets, including options for a mass produced resin dice set (usually HD), a Libris Arcana exclusive set, a metal set, a handmade set made in their "lab" an option including all of the above, and others. There are also quarterly options for some subscriptions if you would like to save on shipping. That seems counterintuitive since they advertise "Free Shipping Worldwide", but the prices are lower on quarterly subscriptions than the monthly equivalent. One thing that sets this subscription apart is that, for the handmade subscription, you can choose the set you receive by sending them a message a week before your box ships. Otherwise, you'll get a set of their choosing.
Yvis Nerd and Geek World	https://www.patreon.com/yvisnerdandgeekworld	Germany	different tiers ranging from $10 to $16	$10 tier Germany: one set of dice every month that isn't listed yet in their online shop $10 tier outside of Germany: one set of dice every two months that isn't yet listed in their online shop	Yvis Nerd and Geek World's subscription options range from advance notice of new dice in their store (for $2/month) to polysets from brands like HD, Udixi, and YuSun to dice sets exclusive to Yvis Nerd and Geek World. Note that, for countries other than Germany, customers will receive one set every other month instead of every month but may upgrade to one every month by paying additional shipping. The dice in the subscription are provided before they are available in their online shop. Please note that this shop is known for delivery delays and customer service issues. There have been several reports from customers paying for the subscription and not receiving dice for several months with their support enquiries across different platforms being ignored.

Critical Kit	https://www.criticalkit.co.uk/products/the-dice-subscription	United Kingdom	£13.99	£13.99: Two sets of dice per month that go with that month's theme, plus extras such as stickers and inserts that match the theme	Critical Kit offers customers a themed subscription dice box, with past themes including Dragons, Space, Day of the Dead, and Buffy. Their box comes with two sets of dice per month and extras such as stickers and inserts that match the theme. Subscribers also get 10% off anything else in the store. At £13.99/month, they promise a savings of at least a few pounds below the retail price after the dice are available in their store. If you missed a past month, they have limited quantities available, which is also a great way to check out the types of dice they offer. Shipping to the UK is free, and US shipping is £4.50.
Fandomonium	https://fandomonium.co.uk/products/dice-subscription	United Kingdom	£10.00	£10.00: One 7-piece polyhedral Chessex dice set per month (Editor comment: They mention Chessex resin dice on their website, but Chessex dice are urea or acrylic, Chessex doesn't make resin dice.)	Text from their website: All of our dice are Chessex dice so only the highest quality resin dice are included. (Chessex doesn't make resin dice, their dice are either urea or acrylic.) - We send you a full set every month. No end of lines, no mixed sets, most importantly no repeats!! - No boring dice guarantee! We don't stock any plain single colour dice - every set we send you will be a combination of multicolour, speckled, shimmer, glitter, swirl or striped. - Huge savings - All of our dice are usually charged at £12.99 per set saving you £3.00 per month. - All of our dice subscriptions will be shipped on the 1st of every month You are free to cancel any time. Dice are shipped on the 1st of every month after your first payment. No signup or cancellation fees. There is no minimum term with this service - just keep subscribing until you no longer need dice (if that's even possible!) Offers one-time or monthly subscription.
Cave Loot	https://www.patreon.com/Caveloot	United States	$6.00	$6: Monthly delivery of a pair of custom dice from the Caveloot.com inventory (single dice)	Unclear whether this service is still being offered, the Patreon site no longer gives any information about subscription perks or tiers
Critical Dice	https://thecriticaldice.com/products/endless-bag-of-dice-dice-subscription	United States	$6.99 (regular) $12.99 (XL)	$6.99 tier: one new set of dice and a bonus item $12.99 tier: one new set of dice and premium bonus items	They promise that you'll be getting a set of dice with a value well over the subscription price every month that are often one of a kind or not yet available in their store. The regular bag includes a new set of dice and one bonus item. The total retail value of the Regular Bag is typically over 13$. The XL bag includes a new set of dice and premium bonus items. The total retail value of the XL Bag is over typically 21$. Shipping in the USA is $2.99.
D20 Collective	https://d20collective.com/products/weekly-dice-subscription-box https://d20collective.com/products/d20-collective-metal-dice-subscription https://d20collective.com/products/gift-dice-subscription-3-months	United States	Acrylic $10 to $50 Metal $19 to $76 3-months pre-paid $30 to $150	Available box size range from 2 to 10 sets (and anything in between), delivery frequency can be every week, every two weeks or every month, with all possible combination of size and frequency at different price points.	Their website says that the dice in the boxes are at the low price of $5 per set. What you get is a mystery, and is not just limited to the weekly $5 dice, with chances of getting any one of the sets in our collection. You'll have the chance of getting dice that are not released yet. They promise not to send duplicates. Please check the three links in the URL column for more details on the contents of each subscription option.

Dice Envy	https://dice-envy.cratejoy.com/subscribe/	United States	different tiers ranging from $15 to $45 (more options for quarterly or yearly payment)	$15 (Envy): 10-piece acrylic or resin dice set, includes a full 7 piece set plus a 33mm d20, extra large d6 and infinity d4s $35 (Pride): 7- to 10-piece set of dice, depending on the material, either a custom engraved acrylic set or a framed metal set in their exclusive mold, but could also be a wooden or stone set $45 (Gluttony): the full set of dice from both the Envy and Pride boxes	Dice Envy offers two types of subscription boxes. Their Envy box is a 10-piece acrylic or resin set, which consists of a regular 7-die polyset plus 33mm d20, extra large d6 and their patented infinity d4. Their Pride box is a 7- to 10-piece set of dice, depending on the materia. These will either be a custom engraved acrylic set or a framed metal set in their exclusive mold, but could also be a wooden or stone set. If you want both boxes at the same time, you can go for the Gluttony option that combines them. The Dice Envy subscription box dice are usually dice that are exclusive to Dice Envy, and that won't necessarily become available outside of the subscription boxes (they sometimes sell overage regularly later, but not always.) All options are available either via monthly payment, but also as pre-paid 3 months, 6 months or 12 months plans. You save round about 5% if you pick the yearly pre-paid option.
Dungeon Crate	https://dungeoncrate.cratejoy.com/	United States	$35,95	$35.95: Not a typical dice subscription but rather a monthly box with RPG related items that aren't necessarily dice.	Each month the Dungeon Crate team personally curates all items in the crate. Items are compatible with all varieties of tabletop roleplaying games. Some of the types of items you'll find in the crate: Original Encounters or Adventures, metal fantasy coins, tabletop terrain, miniatures, dice, buttons, pins and patches, maps, original items from small makers, and exclusive access to their monthly digital crate.
Dwarven Crate	https://dwarvencrate.com/	United States	$30,00	$30: Content seems to vary each month, their website shows examples of previous crates	Every month they curate a selection of fun and interesting dice from factories all over the world. They send a monthly crate that features these dice and as a free bonus they send a mid-month mystery dicemail as well!
Misty Mountain Gaming	https://mistymountaingaming.com/collections/mystery-sets-and-bundles	United States	$29.99 to $59.99	not a monthly subscription, just one-time mystery bundles $29.99: 3 mystery acrylic sets $59.99: 4 mystery resin sets $49.99: Galaxy collection 8-set bundle	not a monthly subscription but rather mystery bundles you can buy on demand

Sunshadeau Arts	https://www.patreon.com/sunshadeauarts	United States	different tiers ranging from $50 to $130	Dice subscriptions via Patreon, different tiers are available: https://www.patreon.com/sunshadeauarts	This subscription service is unlike most subscriptions out there. Many subscriptions you pay monthly to receive a box of miscellaneous items, most of which are mass produced. With the Sunshadeau Arts Subscription Pacts, you pay per collection or mini collection released and you receive one handmade item from that collection that is shipped to you before those items go on sale. Each item you receive is handmade and one-of-a-kind and every person who subscribes may receive different items. This makes for a very unique subscription service you won't find anywhere else. All Fandom Collective designs (including Critical Role inspired designs) will NOT be included in subscriptions. Most other non-collection designs WILL be included in subscriptions.
Tabletop Loot	https://tabletop-loot.com/products/dice-subscription	United States	different tiers ranging from $18 to $35	Tiers of $18, $25, $30 & $35 Lowest tier includes two mystery dice sets, next higher tier is one set more than the next lowest (2 sets, 3 sets, 4 sets, or 5 sets).	Text from website: Get mystery dice sent to you monthly, quarterly (every 3 months), semi-annually (every 6 months), or yearly. We do our best to never repeat our sets but it happens occasionally. If that happens, join us on our Discord server & participate in the Great Dice Exchange, where you & your fellow dice goblins/dragons can see if someone would like to trade sets with you.
Two Fairies and a Dwarf	https://twofairiesandadwarf.com/collections/dice/products/adventuring-supplies	United States	different tiers ranging from $10 to $50	Tiers of $10, $16, $35 & $50 Content will be a mix of dice at the minimum retail value of the level you choose, can include anything from mini dice to metal dice and are pulled from all their current product lines.	Each box of adventuring supplies is filled with a minimum retail value of the level you choose. They can include anything from mini dice to metal dice and are pulled from all their current product lines. They carry Skullsplitter, Chessex, Metallic Dice Games, Koplow, Q-Workshop, Sirius, Gate Keeper Games and Tasty Minstrel Games. They ask a number of questions when you sign up so they can try to make their boxes a little more unique for everyone.

Q-Workshop	https://q-workshop.com/subscription/	Poland	$100,00	Subscription box no longer available (ran only until Feb 2022) $100: 10 to 20 exclusive dice every month, can be sets or singles (usually a mix of both). Includes international courier shipping.	The subscription box is said to include between 10 and 20 dice every month that are not available anywhere else. (Which is to be taken with a grain of salt, because some boxes have contained sets that you can still buy online from the creators' online shops.) These dice may be comprised of singles, sets, or a combination of both. (The first box for March 2021 contained a total of 28 dice, which included 3 sets and 7 singles.) Q-Workshop's subscription box teases exclusivity, advertising that they only sell 50 subscription boxes per month and that some of the dice are "handmade, some are prototypes, custom dice, or old projects really hard to get otherwise." They claim that Q-Workshop white whales may be in the boxes as well. Worldwide shipping via courier is free.
Paladin Roleplaying	https://paladinroleplaying.com/collections/solid-metal-dice-sets/products/monthly-dice-subscription	United Kingdom	£12.95	Subscription Box page gives a 404 error £12.95: One die each month of a specific metal polyset (to have a full set after 7 months), plus one set of random acrylic dice and other free RPG accessory gifts	When you pay for the Paladin RP subscription box in 2021, you get a polyset of metal dice with an antique gold finish, but you basically only get one die each month. In the first month you'll get the gold storage tin and the D20, then you get another gold die every month until the polyset is complete. This set will not be available to anyone else through Paladin RP until subscribers have received the full set. (Please note that the set is not exclusive to Paladin RP. It looks to be a set from SueGao Craft. These are usually sold by other retailers in the $20-30 range per set.) In addition to the metal dice, you get a full acrylic set every month, selected at random from their collection, and a free gift - this could be extra dice, or something completely different. They say they'll keep mixing it up with funky bits and pieces that they have in their warehouse or that they source from our friends in roleplaying-land. Many of these will be exclusives, not otherwise for sale. They say you save over 20% just on the dice.
The Frog and the Flute	https://thefrogandflute.com/products/product_cca39aca-e06e-fb41-4268-8b423b64fba5	United Kingdom	£6.99	Website and company no longer exist £6.99: Randomly selected content each month, which can be a combination of acrylic, resin and metal dice sets (see comment on the right)	The Frog and the Flute offers a Mystery Bag and allows you to subscribe to receive one per month. For each bag, they roll a d8 to determine which dice you will get. The options range from one or two acrylic sets to resin dice or even metal dice. The dice included in the mystery bag are not regularly available on their site, and they promise you won't receive duplicates. Standard US shipping is £3.95. Mystery Bag Subscribers will get access to exclusive ranges of dice that are not available normally, as well as a discounted monthly price. No duplicates. (Please note that this store doesn't seem to offer any exclusive dice with the possible exception of their Frog and the Flute style metal dice, so "limited edition" or "rare" likely refers to sets they don't carry much stock of.)

Known Scammer Dice Stores and Scam Kickstarters

Status: Jan 2024

This is a list of online stores that are advertising dice that aren't theirs and often not even available to retailers, usually well crafted handmade dice or those from still active, popular Kickstarters (e.g. MDG liquid core dice, Dicebound, Uncharted Trilogy-Aurora, Pixels LED dice), or dice offered at ridiculous discounts (e.g. at $0.01 reduced from $19.99).

Do not buy from these stores! If prices seem too good to be true, they usually are.

DARK ELF DICE SCAM SHOP

Some time in 2022, a Chinese scammer started imitating the well known and legitimate dice shop Dark Elf Dice by making a shop website that looked very similar to the real Dark Elf Dice but had a different URL. This scam shop now seems to have finally have gone away, but I'll leave the information here to read up on the history, because scammers are becoming a real problem these days.

The real Dark Elf Dice shop has the URL darkelfdice.com, the scam shop went by darkelfshop.com. On the surface, the scam shop seemed legitimate, but if you looked a little more closely, you could see that the fake shop showed clear signs of not being a valid dice store. For instance, the "About Us" section sounded very strange for a dice shop since it talked about women's fashion, and it called themselves "Cheap Dark Elf Dice Store".

There's now a new Dark Elf Dice impersonator shop at the URL darkelfdicetop.shop.

Before you buy from Dark Elf Dice, always make sure that you've got the shop with the darkelfdice.com URL before you purchase anything!

Post from Esteban U. in Dice Maniacs' Club on June 2, 2021:

KICKSTARTER SCAMS

Someone has been creating dice project scams with an obvious pattern. The last one is called "Gemstone Dice Featuring Mysterious Runes". Please be aware. I have no absolute evidence but you can extract your own conclusions with this information. This is the pattern:

The creator: A little "company" in Hong Kong (Singapore, once), has backed a few projects. Has no Facebook page at all or a very recent one.

The currency: Hong Kong dollar (always)

The reward: A somehow original 7-dice RPG set (always).

The video: Always a good quality video. Always music, never the creator. Always a spinning camera or spinning light effect and a black background.

The pictures: Very similar style, with the company logo on it (always).

The communication style: you can tell it's the same person behind the texts. Prominent use of "I" instead of "we", and "guys,".

The delivery time: a promising 2-3 months after the campaign ends.

The timing: The next campaign is launched around 2 weeks after the previous one reached its goal, that means, about the time the creator receives the funds. They have also made simultaneous campaigns.

The outcome: the project is always funded, then about 2 weeks later communication normally stops, around the time the funds have been received. After that, comments from backers who never received their reward.

Artisan Dice: Artisan Dice has a good amount of negative customer reviews regarding delivery deadlines being ignored, delivery times for pre-paid items being months to years and customer service being unresponsive. They are also known for hit-or-miss quality and there are concerns about whether materials are being ethically sourced. Artisan Dice built their business on the funds from a Kickstarter that they never fully delivered with many backers still waiting for their product while Artisan prolifically and unapologetically sells their products at cons and in their online store.

Dakota Irish has been controversially discussed for unsavoury practices such as misleading marketing, review manipulation, idea theft and deliberate omission of due credit, overpricing and using sock puppet accounts on social media to fake-promote his shop and attack users who criticize his tactics. A comprehensive summary with examples has been posted on Reddit: <https://www.reddit.com/r/dice/comments/1aimjfo/comment/kq2doy9/>

“Handcrafted” Products

Dakota Irish’s high-end priced, artisanal and handcrafted wood products^{[1][2]} are most likely not all handcrafted locally. While his dice towers and dice trays are made in his workshop in Ireland, some of the dice vaults he has sold as handcrafted^{[3][4][5]} are identical to mass produced Chinese imports^[6] that he branded with his logo. When he is called out for such practices, his usual response is either to attack the person voicing criticism or block them.

In 2023 Dakota Irish advertised exclusive resin dice with Delft porcelain inspired pattern decals as hand-painted^[7] porcelain dice^[8], when they were neither porcelain nor hand-painted. Dakota Irish initially denied any wrongdoing when he was being challenged for the dice being neither hand-painted nor porcelain [9 - source: social media posts/comments that have in the meantime been deleted but were witnessed and discussed by several members of the dice community]. When asked directly whether the dice were using decals, he deflected by stating he couldn’t say anything about the production process for (verbatim quote) “obvious reasons” [10 - source: information shared in a Discord server]. Both the sets that were advertised as hand-painted used digital fonts (KouzanBrush^[11] and Comic Sans^[12]). His shop listings were eventually changed to remove the claim of hand-painting, but only after several people talked publicly about how inappropriate this was.

He had one TikTok user’s video that talked about the misleading marketing practices^[13] reported as harassment and removed until the user managed to get it reinstated by appealing the decision.^[10]

► Red Flagged Dice Retailers and Brands ►

Intellectual Property and Idea Theft

In 2019, Dakota Irish sold condition marker rings in his Etsy and his webshop^[14] that were identical to models offered on Thingiverse^[15] with a license for personal use only. When this was discovered by the model's creator, Dakota Irish was asked to either purchase a license or stop selling the rings. He claimed he had designed the rings himself, even though they were identical to the 3D printed rings on Thingiverse and there is no indication that Dakota Irish knows how to design or create digital 3D models from scratch.

In a vindictive effort, a few months after being asked to stop selling the unlicensed condition rings, he filed a purposefully timed DMCA takedown two days before Thanksgiving against a US competitor that had a commercial license for the Thingiverse model rings so that this competitor's Black Friday week sales were ruined that year.^[16]

In October 2023, Dakota Irish advertised his own loot generator dice, which were produced and announced five months after another company first showed their treasure generator dice designs and renders on social media^[17]. Dakota Irish then made a social media post^[18] showing his first batch of loot generator dice in a dice group that he wanted to (verbatim quote) "serve as proof these designs are owned by us in case some clever individual(s) tries to steal 'em in the future; which sadly we know how often that happens." His loot generator dice have not been added to the Dakota Irish store to date.

Dakota Irish made a Facebook post in April 2024^[19] where he announced that he was making changes to his business, which included the statement: "I've never really liked how mystery bags work, so we've innovated (hah!) and created a new way of experiencing mystery bags". His newly created 'innovation' was the exact copy of a concept that Sirius Dice has been using since October 2023 for their Acererak's Treasure Packs^[20]. When this was pointed out in a Facebook comment on his announcement post, he blocked the user who made that comment and hid the comment.

Dakota Irish collaborated with a TTRPG accessories designer and creator called Papa Badger on wooden spell book dice and accessory holders. He mentioned Papa Badger by name when this product was initially added to his shop in 2021, but in 2024 made a post^[21] announcing a restock that didn't mention at all that this was a collaboration project and phrased the announcement in a way that made it sound like this was a product designed, created and produced by Dakota Irish, which is not the case. The collaboration is also not mentioned in the text of the Dakota Irish webstore listing.

Inflated Prices

Dakota Irish has been price-gouging by listing dice significantly higher than other stores that sell the same dice. This is less obvious now as he's been forced to drop prices to stay competitive. However, he was frequently listing dice sets for 25-40% more than comparable stores in Europe and the US, and used opportunities like conventions, exclusives or being first to charge premiums whenever possible.^[22]

As two of many examples, Dakota Irish listed a set of oversized Udixi Huge Castle dice for 23.99 € ^[23] - currently listed at 16.99 € but were 23.99 € in 2023] that other shops worldwide sold for between $13.50 USD and 17.90 €^{[24][25][26][27][28]}. In April 2024, Dakota Irish announced a huge restock on their Facebook page, saying some of the prices went up "because of costs involved"^[29]. This price increase was especially apparent for certain sharp-edged Udixi sets that increased by 40% (from 49.99 €^[30] to 67.99 €^[31]). It is unclear what costs Dakota Irish was referring to since the Udixi wholesale price of $16.80 for these sets had not increased since they were released^[32] - price only visible for registered users].

Inappropriate Online Behaviour

Dakota Irish has made very tone-deaf social media posts, particularly one where he capitalized on Wyrnwood being under fire for a delicate sexual assault situation by making a tweet that in essence said: I know the Wyrnwood stuff is a thing at the moment, so why not buy my products instead.[\[X\]](#) After being called out for this being inappropriate and harmful, he spun himself as the victim of undue attacks and claimed that he was being made to feel unsafe on Twitter and would thus leave the platform.

Dakota Irish used now deleted Reddit alt "Frezzin"[\[33\]](#) to speak up for Dakota Irish[\[34\]](#) - comment now deleted] and to attempt to discredit a Redditor who posted negative feedback about Dakota Irish[\[35\]](#) - comment now deleted], accusing them of a variety of things that weren't true. Dakota Irish also used this alt to covertly glow up his own products[\[36\]](#) - account now deleted] and pretend he was a Dakota Irish customer who had had excellent customer experience[\[37\]](#) - comment now deleted].

The user denied this alt being attached to Dakota Irish when called out for it, even though there were obvious posts and comments in the user's profile history that he was the owner of Dakota Irish (e.g. a video of his Dakota Irish mascot dog Whiskey[\[38\]](#) - post now deleted]), later deleting or editing some of those posts or comments in an ill-conceived attempt to cover his tracks. He eventually deleted all comments made with the Frezzin account, deleted the account itself and then made a post with his official Dakota Irish account that someone hacked into the Frezzin account to impersonate Dakota Irish[\[39\]](#).

Two days after deletion of the Frezzin account, another Reddit account by the name of SeaChocolate7991 was created as another Dakota Irish sock puppet account. This account has been used to repeatedly laud Dakota Irish as a highly recommended shop[\[40\]](#)[\[41\]](#) and to lay into users who spoke out about Dakota Irish and other dice retailers' unethical behavior[\[42\]](#). The SeaChocolate7991 account accidentally outed himself as being connected to Dakota Irish on a Reddit post where a user asked for recommendations for Drow/Underdark themed dice sets[\[43\]](#). Dakota Irish left a now deleted comment with the SeaChocolate7991 account that said, "I have had a few over the years. I've a couple atm - www.dakotairish.com".[\[44\]](#)

Another Reddit user made a post on Reddit in August 2024 that called Dakota Irish out for using sock puppet accounts to promote his own shop, providing screenshots of the above mentioned comments made by the SeaChocolate7991 user.[\[45\]](#) The content of this post was ultimately removed by Reddit several weeks later, which indicates that Dakota Irish may have gone through a lengthy reporting and reviewing process with Reddit to get the post removed.

Review Manipulation

Two different 2-star reviews posted on Trustpilot by different users that outlined Dakota Irish's misconduct were flagged by Dakota Irish as "containing harmful or illegal content" and were consequently removed from Trustpilot[46][47], even though the content in them accurately reflected Dakota Irish's unsavory behavior. Another negative review by a Google user was flagged and removed for containing gibberish or repeated content, which was not actually the case.[48]

This lends to the assumption that Dakota Irish actively has negative reviews removed and that his public approval rating is not reflective of the actual customer experience. At the same time, Dakota Irish boasted in his webshop that he had 12k+ positive Etsy and Trustpilot reviews[49].

Marketing Manager Job Posting

In 2021, Dakota Irish was looking to hire a social media manager for his brand. The job posting for this Digital Marketing Manager[50] read like a position in a large global company with a substantial hierarchy, when it was for a job in a <10 employee family business in Ireland's countryside.

The job listing contained a lot of corporate speakisms and red flags that implied they were looking for someone who

- wouldn't challenge anything they were being told by their superiors,
- needed to be great but didn't question anything,
- wouldn't mind that their ideas were going to be used without credit,
- wouldn't be paid well because, despite having existed for five years, they still called themselves a start-up.

The Dakota Irish entry in the Dice Wiki on Miraheze was deleted by a Miraheze mod with a request not to re-add, most likely because Dakota Irish reported it due to its Controversies section that outlined the above behaviours.[51]

Gate Keeper Games: Company is run by an strongly devout Christian with an ultraconservative mindset that includes misogynistic ideas such as women being made for cooking and having children, homo- and transphobia, support of anti-abortionist agendas and ideals bordering on the conspiratorial, incl. questionable actions and statements about the Covid pandemic (e.g. thanking God for the Covid pandemic because it brought families closer together). Has threatened other dice designers with non-existent design ownership and trademark claims. Knowingly used brand names of existing small dice businesses for his own dice and refused to change the name when being called out for it. Poorly worded and pretty cringy responses to online backlash on social media. Poor handling of Mystery Dice Kickstarter, frequent gaslighting of backers in critical comments. Misleading advertising and using factually wrong statements to promote his products.

Level Up Dice: Level Up Dice (LUD) is actively lying about the quality of their stone materials, claiming they are gem-grade when they are very much not. This has been confirmed by gemstone experts, and when LUD was called on it, they deflected. They also overcharge for their dice, both to retailers and consumers.

Lack of quality control: The dice they have delivered to retailers were terrible quality with misshapen dice, incorrect or off-centre numbers and were shipped without any packing protection.

Proudly announced a new line of dice labelled “WW2 Historic Dice” that they started off with a highly limited run of metal dice made from pieces of an authentic German World War II tank. This wasn't well received by the RPG community and they received a massive amount of backlash. Instead of listening to the criticism, they gaslighted, ridiculed and alienated the people who spoke out. Four years later, LUD issued a written apology, claiming they were ignorant of the trauma of the holocaust that is still felt today and that they were basically unaware of the atrocities that happened during the German Reich period and World War II. This apology was felt as a poorly executed and shallow PR stunt and didn't earn them any sympathy either.

Took over the Kickstarter fulfilment of the Kingsfell Royal Mold System when Kingsfell was about to go bankrupt, under the premise that they would handle production and delivery. LUD ordered immediate production stop of further moulds that Kingsfell was still working on and then abandoned the project and has not produced or delivered any moulds to backers to date (and likely won't in the future).

Yvis Nerd and Geek World: Look for negative reviews on Google and Trustpilot, there are many accounts of people not having received any items and the shop not responding to several attempts of contacting them. Is known for handmade items that aren't in stock taking several months to be made and delivered. Several customers have reported that monthly dice subscriptions stopped being sent despite ongoing payment or were delivered with weeks to months delay. Several other customer complaints with similar issues have been made in private forums and on Facebook. Comments with a negative sentiment on her social media are deleted and censored, which may indicate that the shop also fakes feedback and reviews.

Celebrating 244 years of Independence

January 1, 1776

Gen. George Washington had the first unofficial national flag raised over what is now Somerville, Massachusetts.

The First official flag of the United States was approved by resolution of the Second Continental Congress on June 14, 1777.

In 1916, it was President Woodrow Wilson who would proclaim that June 14 would officially be established as Flag Day, and on August 3, 1949, National Flag Day was established by an Act of Congress.

Now if you are from one of the 47 countries around the planet Earth that we ship to this may mean nothing to you, but that flag means a lot to me. Although like most countries apathy usually gives way to an invader at some point; perhaps that is exactly what is going on in the United States currently. For centuries people have given up their comfort and in many cases their possessions to come to America and pursue their dreams in the free enterprise system. My family came in 1718 from Londonberry, Ireland, that is why the flag means so much to me. Let me explain what it means to me: the most apparent is probably the 50 stars that are on the flag, one for each state that makes up the union that we call the United States of America. The the next most obvious is the number 13; the number of stripes that are on the flag, one representing each of the original 13 colonies that made up the New World in 1776, 156 years after the Puritans left Holland and landed in modern day Massachusetts. The colors of the flag to me have great meaning as well, Red for the blood of those who have fought and died to maintain the freedom from Monarchy and Anarchy, Blue for the bravery. Bravery that has been shown both on battlefields and through the last 244 years that we live in a free land and there will always be those who wish to exercise power over others, even in a free land. As long as man exists, some form of evil will exist as well. Men and women have fought either through peaceful protests or on battlefields to stand up for the rights of others who are oppressed by those evil men. Lastly the white, the white stripes on the flag to me represents Freedom, Purity, Honor, Pride, it represents the Distinguished land that we call the United States of America. Now the official meaning behind those three colors red, white and blue are:

- Red symbolizes hardiness and valor
- White symbolizes purity and innocence
- Blue represents vigilance, perseverance and justice.

Yes, today I do celebrate Flag day and on July 4th I will celebrate America's Independence and I will continue to defend that Flag and the U.S. Constitution from all enemies foreign and domestic until they lay me in the ground. I love my country and I am proud to be an American, because even with the socialist trying to destroy her this is in my opinion the greatest place to live in the World, if it weren't so I just don't think we would have so many people trying to get into the country both legally and illegally. People for decades have put their children on makeshift rafts and set them afloat off the coast of Cuba in hopes they would be found on the shores of America and have a chance at a better life than Cuba, people die crossing the deserts of Mexico and the river Rio Grande in hopes of a better life in America. If you go about it the legal way, the right way, America receives the weary from the world with open arms. America is about love, but every good parent that loves their child disciplines their child. I can't be everything for everyone, I am who my years of living and the character my parents instilled in me has become. I don't apologize for that I can love everyone and still not agree with you based on what I believe to be noble and honorable, but I do know this; that great dice make for great gaming and great gaming makes for great stress relief and great stress relief leads to a happier life. I wish you all well and leave you with one of my favorite texts that comes from Paul's first letter to the Corinthians somewhere around 55AD "And now these three remain: Faith, Hope and Love, but the greatest of these is Love" I hope these current times haven't made you lose faith in the good of humanity and I hope your love shines through any hatred in your community.

I am also inviting you to celebrate by making an unprecedented discount available for the next few weeks, I know that with current events money is tight for a lot of people and hopefully things are getting to the point where you can return to work if you haven't already. I know that Monday I will be glad to have those GEM(Translucent) dice running for a change. In the meantime through July 4th weekend I am announcing a 14% discount off your order over $17.76. Once we have filled the 30+ backorders for GEM dice you will start seeing them available on the website as well. Perhaps you are needing other gaming supplies as well we have lots of things in-house that are not necessarily Gamescience® products but after 46 years you end up with a lot of friendships that lead to having other products to sell as well.

I hope you all are having a great Summer and are staying safe.

Keep Roll'n,

James Means
